INSTRUCTION NO. _____

I. STATEMENT OF THE CASE

MEMBERS OF THE JURY:

This case revolves around damage that Plaintiffs' vineyard plants sustained due to spray drift caused by Defendants. Calico Skies Vineyard and Winery (hereafter "The Vineyard") is owned by Plaintiffs, the Kimberleys, and is located in Inwood, Lyon County, Iowa. Defendant Dennis Scholten rents and farms land adjacent to the northeast portion of The Vineyard. The owner of the land rented by Scholten is Bud Gogelzang. Defendant Jeff Mattoon was hired by Scholten to apply chemical pesticides and herbicides to the land Scholten rented and farmed. Specifically, on June 9, 2015, Mattoon sprayed the rented land with a chemical herbicide which included a mixture of LO-VOL 6 2, 4-D Low Volatile Herbicide, which contains the active ingredient 2, 4-D acid-isoocytl ester. The spray migrated as herbicide drift onto The Vineyard grapevines, causing particulates of the spray chemicals to infiltrate The Vineyard and contact the grapevines within it. Prior to June 9, 2015, the grape vine plants of various varieties and ages were in foliage and in good health. The grapes grown in The Vineyard were/are also registered with the State of Iowa Sensitive Crops Directory, putting Defendants on notice of this fact. The Vineyard's perimeter is also clearly marked off with a seven-foot tall fence.

On roughly June 14, 2015, Plaintiffs noticed that The Vineyard and its grapes were showing stress symptoms, which Plaintiffs observed to spread and worsen over time. On June 17, 2015, Plaintiffs registered a formal complaint to the Iowa Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship (hereafter "IDALS"). Pesticide investigator Brad Hannah began reviewing the matter on June 19, 2015, and found that the 2, 4-D had not been applied to any other farms (except the land rented and farmed by Scholten) in the vicinity of The Vineyard for roughly 27 days prior to June 9, 2015, nor during the 8 days following that date. Plaintiffs observed the spray damage less than one week after June 9, 2015, and more than one week prior to application by other surrounding lands. Investigator Hannah collected vegetation samples from throughout The Vineyard and collected grape tissue tested positive for 2, 4-D herbicide, with the highest concentration found in vines in the northeast corner of The Vineyard. Much lower concentrations were found in the southeast corner.

Weather records for June 9, 2015, show that the temperature in Inwood exceeded 90 degrees Fahrenheit that day while wind speeds were as high as 14 miles per hour in variable directions. The warning label for LO-VOL 6 2, 4-D Low Volatile Herbicide lists grapes "in growing stage" as susceptible plants and also includes the following language on the label: "at temperatures above 90 [degrees Fahrenheit] vapors may damage susceptible crops growing nearby" and "2,4-D esters may volatize during conditions of low humidity and high temperatures. Do not apply during conditions of low humidity and high temperatures."

It is Plaintiffs' position that the herbicide drift killed and damaged extensive plants in The Vineyard. This resulted in significant financial damage to Plaintiffs.

Do not consider this summary as proof of any claim. Decide the facts from the evidence and apply the law which I will now give you.

II. REQUESTED UNIFORM JURY INSTRUCTIONS

INSTRUCTION NO.
-----------------	--

Duties Of Judge And Jury, Instructions As Whole. My duty is to tell you what the law is. Your duty is to accept and apply this law.

You must consider all of the instructions together because no one instruction includes all of the applicable law.

The order in which I give these instructions is not important.

Your duty is to decide all fact questions.

As you consider the evidence, do not be influenced by any personal sympathy, bias, prejudices or emotions. Because you are making very important decisions in this case, you are to evaluate the evidence carefully and avoid decisions based on generalizations, gut feelings, prejudices, sympathies, stereotypes, or biases. The law demands that you return a just verdict, based solely on the evidence, your reason and common sense, and these instructions. As jurors, your sole duty is to find the truth and do justice.

Burden Of Proof, Preponderance Of Evidence. Whenever a party must prove something they must do so by the preponderance of the evidence.

Preponderance of the evidence is evidence that is more convincing than opposing evidence. Preponderance of the evidence does not depend upon the number of witnesses testifying on one side or the other.

Evidence. You shall base your verdict only upon the evidence and these instructions.

Evidence is:

- 1. Testimony in person or by deposition.
- 2. Exhibits received by the court.
- 3. Stipulations which are agreements between the attorneys.
- 4. Any other matter admitted (e.g. answers to interrogatories, matters which judicial notice was taken, and etc.).

Evidence may be direct or circumstantial. The weight to be given any evidence is for you to decide.

Sometimes, during a trial, references are made to pre-trial statements and reports, witnesses' depositions, or other miscellaneous items. Only those things formally offered and received by the court are available to you during your deliberations. Documents or items read from or referred to which were not offered and received into evidence, are not available to you.

The following are not evidence:

- 1. Statements, arguments, questions and comments by the lawyers.
- 2. Objections and rulings on objections.
- 3. Any testimony I told you to disregard.
- 4. Anything you saw or heard about this case outside the courtroom.

Credibility Of Witnesses. You will decide the facts from the evidence. Consider the evidence using your observations, common sense and experience. You must try to reconcile any conflicts in the evidence; but, if you cannot, you will accept the evidence you find more believable.

In determining the facts, you may have to decide what testimony you believe. You may believe all, part or none of any witnesses' testimony.

There are many factors which you may consider in deciding what testimony to believe, for example:

- 1. Whether the testimony is reasonable and consistent with other evidence you believe:
- 2. The witnesses' appearance, conduct, age, intelligence, memory and knowledge of the facts; and,
- 3. The witnesses' interest in the trial, their motive, candor, bias and prejudice.

You may not communicate about this case before reaching your verdict. This includes cell phones, and electronic media such as text messages, Facebook, MySpace, LinkedIn, YouTube, Twitter, email, etc.

Do not do any research or make any investigation about this case on your own. Do not visit or view any place discussed in this case, and do not use Internet maps or Google Earth or any other program or device to search for or to view any place discussed in the testimony. Also, do not research any information about this case, the law, or the people involved, including the parties, the witnesses, the lawyers, or the judge. This includes using the Internet to research events or people referenced in the trial.

This case will be tried on evidence presented in the courtroom. If you conduct independent research, you will be relying on matters not presented in court. The parties have a right to have this case decided on the evidence they know about and that has been introduced here in court. If you do some research or investigation or experiment that we do not know about, then your verdict may be influenced by inaccurate, incomplete or misleading information that has not been tested by the trial process, including the oath to tell the truth and by cross-examination. All of the parties are entitled to a fair trial, rendered by an impartial jury, and you must conduct yourself so as to maintain the integrity of the trial process. If you decide a case based on information not presented in court, you will have denied the parties a fair trial in accordance with the rules of this state and you will have done an injustice. It is very important that you abide by these rules. [Failure to follow these instructions may result in the case having to be retried and could result in you being held in contempt and punished.]

Punitive Damages. Punitive damages may be awarded if the plaintiffs have proven by a preponderance of clear, convincing and satisfactory evidence the defendant's conduct constituted a willful and wanton disregard for the rights or safety of another and caused actual damage to the plaintiff.

Punitive damages are not intended to compensate for injury but are allowed to punish and discourage the defendant and others from like conduct in the future. You may award punitive damages only if the defendant's conduct warrants a penalty in addition to the amount you award to compensate for plaintiff's actual injuries.

There is no exact rule to determine the amount of punitive damages, if any, you should award. You may consider the following factors:

- 1. The nature of defendant's conduct that harmed the plaintiff.
- 2. The amount of punitive damages which will punish and discourage like conduct by the defendant. You may consider the defendant's financial condition or ability to pay. You may not, however, award punitive damages solely because of the defendant's wealth or ability to pay.
- 3. The plaintiff's actual damages. The amount awarded for punitive damages must be reasonably related to the amount of actual damages you award to the plaintiff.
- 4. The existence and frequency of prior similar conduct. If applicable, add: Although you may consider harm to others in determining the nature of defendant's conduct, you may not award punitive damages to punish the defendant for harm caused to others, or for out-of-state conduct that was lawful where it occurred, or for any conduct by the defendant that is not similar to the conduct which caused the harm to the plaintiff in this case.

INSTRU	JCTION	NO.

Liability Of Person Engaging Services Of Independent Contractor - Work Dangerous In Absence Of Special Precautions. Persons who hire an independent contractor to do work which they should recognize as likely to create a peculiar risk of harm to others while the work is being done have the duty to exercise ordinary care to take special precautions.

A "peculiar risk" of harm exists only where some special danger results from the nature of the work done and which calls for special precautions. "Peculiar" does not mean that the risk must be one which is abnormal to the type of work done or that it must be an abnormally great risk. It refers to a special, exceptional, unusual, recognizable open danger arising out of the work itself which exists at all times.

This duty continues even though the contract provides for others to take adequate precautions, and the independent contractor agrees and assumes all liability for failing to do so. Such a contract does not relieve defendants from their duty to take such precautions where third persons are concerned.

A violation of this duty is negligence.

Liability Of Person Engaging Services Of Independent Contractor - Negligence In Exercising Control Retained By Such Person. Persons who hire an independent contractor, but who keep control of a particular part of the work, have the duty to use ordinary care in exercising such control.

"Keeping control" means keeping some degree of control over the way the work is done. This includes the right of supervision so that the independent contractor is not entirely free to control the way the work is done. It is not enough to have only a general right to order the work stopped or resumed, to inspect its progress or to receive reports, to make suggestions or recommendations which need not necessarily be followed, or to prescribe alterations or changes.

INSTRUCTION NO.
-----------------

Cause - Defined. The conduct of a party is a cause of damage when the damage would not have happened except for the conduct.

I.C.J.I. 700.3

Authority

Thompson v. Kaczinski, 774 N.W.2d 829, 836-39 (Iowa 2009)

Royal Indemnity Co. v. Factory Mut. Ins. Co., ____ N.W.2d ____, ___, No. 07-1324 slip. op. at 19 (Iowa June 11, 2010)

Restatement (Third) of Torts: Liability for Physical and Emotional Harm, § 26

Comment

Note: In a case where the evidence may show more than one cause contributed to the injury or damages, the following sentence should be added: "There can be more than one cause of an injury or damage."

Note: A separate instruction must be given where the evidence may show "multiple sufficient causes." See Thompson, 774 N.W.2d at 837 n. 3

Note: Consider appropriateness of giving this instruction in addition to Iowa Civil Jury Instruction 220.34 Previous Infirm Condition where "Eggshell Plaintiff Rule" applies.

INST	TRUC	TION	NO.

Scope of Liability – Defined. You must decide whether the claimed harm to plaintiff is within the scope of defendant's liability. The plaintiffs claimed harm is within the scope of a defendant's liability if that harm arises from the same general types of danger that the defendant should have taken reasonable steps [or other tort obligation] to avoid.

Consider whether repetition of defendant's conduct makes it more likely harm of the type plaintiff claims to have suffered would happen to another. If not, the harm is not within the scope of liability.

Royal Indemnity Co. v. Factory Mut. Ins. Co., ___ N.W.2d ___, ___, No. 07-1324 slip. op. at 18-20 (Iowa June 11, 2010)

Restatement (Third) of Torts: Liability for Physical and Emotional Harm, §§ 29, 30 & model instruction No. 2 (modified, at page 517).

Comment

In most cases, scope of liability will not be in dispute or will be adjudicated by the court on a dispositive motion. This instruction should be given only if under the facts of the particular case scope of liability is a question for the jury.

INSTRU	JCTION	NO.

Concurrent Cause - Defined. There can be more than one cause of an injury or damage. When the fault of two or more separate parties is so related to an event that their combined fault, when viewed as a whole, is the cause of the event without which the event would not occur, then the fault of each party may be a cause.

Merchants National Bank of Cedar Rapids v. Waters, 447 F.2d 234 (8th Cir. 1971) Sandman v. Hagan, 261 Iowa 560, 154 N.W.2d 113 (1967)

INSTRUCTION NO. ____

Definition Of Independent Contractor. The right to control the manner and method of performing the work is the primary test for determining whether a person is an independent contractor or an employee. If the person doing the work answers to another only as to the result of the work but selects the manner and method of doing the work such person must be regarded as an independent contractor. In determining who has the right to control the manner and method of doing the work you should consider the following matters as shown by the evidence.

- 1. The existence of a contract or the performance of a certain piece of work or kind of work at a fixed price.
- 2. Whether the business of the person doing the work is independent from that of the person who hires the work done.
- 3. Whether the person doing the work has the right to employ assistants and has the right to supervise their activities.
- 4. Whether the person doing the work must furnish necessary tools, supplies and material.
- 5. Whether the work in that locality is usually done under the supervision or by a specialist without supervision.
- 6. The skill required in doing the work.
- 7. The time limit for performing the services.
- 8. The method of payment.
- 9. Whether the work is part of the regular work of the person who hires the work done.
- 10. Whether the parties believe they are creating a relationship of employer-employee or independent contractor.
- 11. Whether there is any withholding from payment to the person providing the service for federal income tax or social security.
  - 12. Any other matters shown by the evidence bearing on this question.

MODIFIED JURY INSTRUCTIONS

INSTRUCTION NO. ____

Essentials For Recovery. The plaintiff must prove all of the following propositions:

- 1. The defendant was negligent in one or more of the following ways:
  - a. By spraying of herbicide at times when the wind was blowing at such velocity and direction as to permit the application to drift into the vineyard;
  - b. By spraying of herbicide under such other weather and other conditions, such as temperature conditions, as to permit the application to drift into the vineyard;
  - c. By spraying of herbicide near the vineyard which was registered with the Iowa Sensitive Crops Directory and not taking reasonable care to prevent the herbicide from affecting the vineyard; and/or
  - d. By otherwise failing to apply herbicide in such a manner as to prevent the drift of herbicide into the vineyard.
- 2. The negligence was a cause of damage to the plaintiffs.
- 3. The amount of damage.

If the plaintiff has failed to prove any of these propositions, the plaintiff is not entitled to damages. If the plaintiff has proved all of these propositions, the plaintiff is entitled to damages in some amount.

Comment

Caveat: If exclusive control issue relates to multiple defendants, additional instructions as to shared control may be required.

INSTRUCTION NO. ____

General Negligence (Res Ipsa Loquitur). It is alleged the plaintiff's injuries were caused by the defendant's specific acts of negligence and also by the defendant's general negligence. If you find plaintiff's injuries were caused by negligence in one or more of the specific ways claimed by the plaintiff, then do not consider the general negligence claim. However, if you find the plaintiff did not prove the injuries were caused by the defendant's specific act or acts of negligence, then you will consider the plaintiff's general negligence claim.

Under the rule of general negligence, the occurrence of an injury allows you to conclude that the defendant was negligent if the plaintiff proves (1) the injury was caused by the herbicide spray under the exclusive control of the defendant, and (2) the injury would not have occurred if ordinary care had been used.

The plaintiff must prove the defendant had exclusive control when the negligence occurred. If you find the negligence occurred before the injury, then the plaintiff must prove there was no change in the condition of the (describe the instrument) after it left the defendant's exclusive control which could reasonably have caused the injury.

The plaintiff must also prove the occurrence would not have happened if ordinary care had been used. Proof of this requirement rests on common experience.

If you find the plaintiff has proved both requirements of the rule, you may conclude the defendant was negligent, but you are not required to do so. If the plaintiff fails to prove either of the basic requirements, the plaintiff cannot recover damages under the general negligence claim.
